Food and Culture in Spain

SECTION I: Course Overview

Course Code: CUL340SVQ

Subject Areas: Cultural Studies, Sociology

Prerequisites: None required

Language of Instruction: English

Contact Hours: 45

Credits: 3

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course introduces Spanish gastronomy while focusing on the complex value codes and beliefs related to Spanish local products and their consumption. The course is divided into four parts. In the first part, students will be encouraged to define the concepts of food and culture, explore the role of cuisine in collective and individual identities, and examine how cultural food habits are created and change. This part covers the broader context that includes and sustains the way food is produced, prepared and consumed in Spain: the Mediterranean diet. The second part of the course explains the theoretical and ideological aspects of cuisine in Spain and identifies the particular characteristics of traditional Spanish cuisine. The third part of the course presents historical events that have shaped the cultural food model in Spain by exploring the influences of the Romans and the Arabs and the Columbian Exchange as the initial basis of the modern Spanish diet. The final part focuses on some of the foods that comprise the core of the Spanish diet. The course includes a number of experiential learning activities that may vary from term to term. These range from visits to local markets and wineries to a variety of workshops, including olive oil tasting, a bread workshop, and a tapas cooking workshop.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon successful completion of this course, you will be able to:

- Describe the main characteristics of Spanish gastronomy and the origins of the main ingredients of the Spanish cuisine.
- Reflect on the concept of culture and the importance of cuisine in the shaping of cultures and identities.

- Describe culinary traditions in different civilizations and their influence in Spanish gastronomy.
- Discover the local gastronomy by visiting local places such as markets, wineries, restaurants, etc., and engaging in tasting and/or cooking activities

SECTION II: Instructor & Course Details

INSTRUCTOR DETAILS

Name: TBA
 Contact Information: TBA
 Term: SEMESTER

ATTENDANCE POLICY

This class will meet once weekly for 150 minutes each session. All students are expected to arrive on time and be prepared for the day's class session.

CEA enforces a mandatory attendance policy. You are therefore expected to attend all regularly scheduled class sessions, including any field trips, site visits, guest lectures, etc. that are assigned by the instructor. The table below shows the number of class sessions you may miss before receiving a grade penalty.

ALLOWED ABSENCES – SEMESTERS
Courses Meeting X day(s) Per Week	Allowed Absence(s)	Automatic Failing Grade at X th Absence
Courses meeting 1 day(s) per week	1 Absences	4 th Absence

For every additional absence beyond the allowed number, your final course grade will drop down to the subsequent letter grade (ex: A+ to A). As a student, you should understand that the grade penalties will apply if you are marked absent due to tardiness or leaving class early. In the table below, you will find the grade penalty associated with each excessive absence up to and including automatic course failure.

ATTENDANCE DOCKING PENALTIES
Absence	1 st	2 nd	3 rd	4 th
Penalty	No Penalty	0.5 Grade Docked	1 Grade Docked	Automatic Failure
HIGHEST POSSIBLE GRADE AFTER ATTENDANCE PENALTIES
Grade	A+	A	A-	F

The instructor reserves the right to make changes or modifications to this syllabus as needed

CEA does not distinguish between excused and unexcused absences. As such, no documentation is required for missing class. Similarly, excessive absences, and the grade penalty associated with each, will not be excused even if you are able to provide documentation that shows the absence was beyond your control. You should therefore only miss class when truly needed as illness or other unavoidable factors may force you to miss a class session later on in the term.

GRADING & ASSESSMENT

The instructor will assess your progress towards the above-listed learning objectives by using the forms of assessment below. Each of these assessments is weighted and will count towards your final grade. The following section (Assessment Overview) will provide further details for each.

ASSESSMENT OVERVIEW

This section provides a brief description of each form of assessment listed above. Your course instructor will provide further details and instructions during class time.

Class Participation (10%): Student participation is mandatory for all courses taken at a CEA Study Center. The instructor will use the rubric below when determining your participation grade. All students should understand that attendance and punctuality are expected and will not count positively toward the participation grade.

CLASS PARTICIPATION GRADING RUBRIC
Student Participation Level	Grade
You make major & original contributions that spark discussion, offering critical comments clearly based on readings, research, & theoretical course topics.	A+ (10.0 – 9.70)
You make significant contributions that demonstrate insight as well as knowledge of required readings & independent research.	A/A- (9.69 – 9.00)
You participate voluntarily and make useful contributions that are usually based upon some reflection and familiarity with required readings.	B+/B (8.99 – 8.40)
You make voluntary but infrequent comments that generally reiterate the basic points of the required readings.	B-/C+ (8.39 – 7.70)
You make limited comments only when prompted and do not initiate debate or show a clear awareness of the importance of the readings.	C/C- (7.69 – 7.00)
You very rarely make comments and resist engagement with the subject. You are not prepared for class and/or discussion of course readings.	D (6.99 – 6.00)
You make irrelevant and tangential comments disruptive to class discussion. You are consistently unprepared for class and/or discussion of the course readings.	F (5.99 – 0.00)

The instructor reserves the right to make changes or modifications to this syllabus as needed

Group Project (Spanish Cuisines) (10%): The instructor will provide advice and guidance regarding the contents and structure for the research project. Progress updates must be submitted periodically to the instructor and will count towards the overall assessment of the project. On the course Moodle website, students will find materials to successfully complete this assignment such as: A rubric, a PPT template for the presentation, links to relevant content, and documents with relevant information about the topic. If classes are held virtually, presentations will be done via Zoom.

For this exercise, your work will be evaluated according to the tenets and principles of scholarly academic research and Standard English usage and expository writing. Therefore, students should use a recognized style guide, a good dictionary, and adhere to the highest principles of academic integrity.

1. Link your subject to the learning objectives listed above.
2. Search out a wide variety of scholarly, peer-reviewed bibliographical sources.
3. Show personal involvement in your subject in a demonstrable way.
4. Use local resources and make your finished project one that could only be done in your host city.

Research Project (10%): It is a follow up on the field study “The market is a Lab”. This will consist in doing research about a product relevant to Spanish traditional food culture to be assigned by the professor. On the course Moodle students will find guidelines and support information to complete this assignment. Students will have to present the way this foodstuff is being produced and why geography, climate, and history play a role in the whole process.

Field Studies (15%): During the course the students will complete three field studies. They can be part of a larger project, or just the trigger of a new topic. The overall grade will be the average of the grades for each one of these activities:

1. One world, a thousand cuisines. This field study focuses on the implications of culture and identity as to what, how, and why we eat. You will lead a research about the topic (chosen by you) about Spanish food system, and you will present your results in class. Your grade will be based in your presentation. On Moodle you will find precise guidelines, a presentation rubric, and examples from other semesters.
2. Seville is market land! Markets tell us a lot about the culture they belong to. If it is true, we should learn a great deal by visiting some of the Seville’s markets. Students will visit one market and analyze it on site (they will hand in their research results the following session). This will prove how different markets are depending on the people living around them.
3. The Market Is a Lab. This field study will focus on different methods used in Spain to preserve food and how these products became totemic representations of Spanish gastronomy. Students will visit a market/supermarket and will research the most common (traditional) preserving method. They will present the results of their visit, and their assumption in the following session.

Food Diary (15%): students will have to regularly post their thoughts, opinions and ideas about Spanish customs, products and beliefs related to food. Each student will submit, at least, three short texts during the semester. Students could use their experiences at the recommended AICAP activities in order to complete part of this form of assessment. On the course Moodle website students will find: a rubric and examples from other semesters which set a benchmark of excellence.

Tapas potluck (10%): all the students will design and prepare a tapa. They will name it, and they will have to justify the ingredients they chose and all the hidden concepts lying in the final result in a short presentation in class. After all we will enjoy all the tapas and we will choose the class' favorite. This activity is a great way to summarize the semester, and to prepare for the final exam.

Midterm & Final Examinations (15% each): The midterm and final exams are designed to establish and communicate to you the progress you are making towards meeting the course learning objectives listed above. They are comprised of questions and exercises that test your abilities in three important areas of competency: the amount of information you master; the accuracy of the information you present; and the significance you ascribe to the facts and ideas you have integrated across your study in this course.

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING ACTIVITIES

CEA courses are designed to include a variety of experiential learning activities that will take you out of the classroom and allow you to explore your local, host city. These activities may include field studies, guest lectures and/or activities offered through our Academically Integrated Cultural Activities Program (AICAP). The following experiential learning activities are integrated in this course:
